- 1. An auxiliary airport is located along the district road between the villages of Hrusovany and Litobratrice. The airfield is used only for training flights and no planes are stationed at the airport; planes merely land there and take off again.
- 2. The surface of the airfield is covered with grass. There are no hangars but the airport does have a gasoline depot which is guarded day and night by two men of the National Security Corps (SNB). It also has a wind direction indicator.
